

One for all

Link all your sites together into one phone system.

Multi-site

Using either one of eve's feature packages, or your existing phone system, connect all your sites together and benefit from free calls between them.

eve will configure inbound numbers to ring across multiple sites and you can short dial between them. With the multi-site feature you can unify all your sites into one phone system.

KEY BENEFITS

Free calls

As all sites are part of one single phone system, even if you are using a third party PBX, all calls between sites are free.

Single system

Combining a mixture of eve's feature packages and SIP channels into an existing phone system, the platform can bring all your sites together to form a single system.

Inter-site routing

As all sites are linked, inbound calls can be distributed across multiple sites allowing users from different sites to answer calls on the same number.

Extension dialling

Save time by short dialling your co-workers, not only within the same premises but across multiple sites.
